

FIND YOUR NEXT BIRD HUNTING ADVENTURE AT THE 2018 SCI HUNTERS' CONVENTION

When people think of the SCI Hunters' Convention, visions of big game hunts in Africa, Asia, South America and North America come to mind. What may come as a surprise is that several outfitters displaying at the Convention offer outstanding game bird and waterfowl hunting opportunities all over the world.

One of the outfitters who will again be exhibiting at the 2018 SCI Hunters' Convention is Ramsey Russell with GetDucks.com. When you talk with Ramsey you can't help but get excited about booking one of his dozens of game bird and waterfowl hunts available all over the world.

"The response to our hunts at our first SCI Convention was a total surprise," says Russell "Because we offer such a variety of hunts for virtually every game bird, duck and goose in the world, our booth was swamped."

Many avid bird hunters are looking for the next place to hunt for a bird they have never taken. Much like big game hunters who add to their list of game taken, bird hunters are looking for exotic hunts in places where they can take birds they may never have even seen before.

"We specialize in hunts not only for birds, but for the accommodations and amenities that make for an enjoyable and lasting experience." says Ramsey. "One of my biggest joys in this business is seeing client/friends at the SCI Convention and hearing about how much they enjoyed a hunt they booked with us. Many come back to look for their next adventure."

So what type of hunts can you book with Getducks.com? You can book a hunt for one of 49 species of waterfowl in North America. When you go to the GetDucks.com website, you will find hunts available for each species. All you have to do is click on the one you want and the hunts pop up.

If you looking for an exotic bird like a Western Capercailli or dozens of others, you can book hunts for them, too with GetDucks.com. It really is amazing to see the number of hunts Russell has put together.

In addition to GetDucks.com, there are several other outfitters offering bird hunts at the SCI Convention. It has been a growing area of the Convention as more and more hunters start collecting the multitude of game bird and waterfowl species in North America and around the World.

If you're interested in wingshooting and looking for the next great adventure, be sure to attend the 2018 SCI Hunters' Convention and visit with the outfitters who specialize in bird hunts. There are hundreds of hunts to choose from.
