

Chuck's Woodbarn Creates Valued Heirlooms

Coming from a family with a long history of wood workers, Chuck spent his childhood working in his Dad's shop and later helped operate the family-owned lumber yard. After retiring in 2006, he and his wife, Sherry, decided to pursue their dream careers of designing and creating beautiful and unique pieces of furniture. Chuck and Sherry both work on designing the piece. Chuck's forte is steam bending and construction while Sherry specializes in interior design.

Webster defines an heirloom chest as something valuable that has been in the possession of a family for a long time and has been passed on from one generation to the next.

Chuck comments on their work. "What a wonderful feeling to be able to create something that will be not only very special to someone today, but also will be passed on to someone they love. We are proud when people look at our products and immediately talk about handing them down to their descendants."

Display Your Scoreboard & Objectives

Fed Dumont, professional hunter in Equatorial Africa for 25 years, offers a completely new line of products. Its goal is to allow hunters to present and collect their safari results to create treasures of unforgettable memories.

SafariBook-Africa is a logbook that shows the 175 African game*, on which, for each animal, the hunter can register his own trophies and has an entire page to paste his own photos. It is a complete support of memories, easily transportable in its leather cover.

SafariMap-Africa is a scoreboard that represents the 175 African game*, embellished with a map of Africa, on which the hunter writes his results

directly. It is a very visual support, which allows posting results and planning the next safaris.
